Education System

This source unit in Agricultural Management was prepared for use by teachers of vocational agriculture in Colorado. It contains suggested objectives, motivation techniques, study guides, listing of references, analysis information, and follow up activities which might be used in teaching this subject matter.

The purpose and intent of this guide was to assist teachers of vocational agriculture in analyzing and supplementing their information in the area of agricultural management and to organize lesson units for instructional purposes in secondary, young farmer, and adult programs. This guide is not intended to be used either as a course of study or as an outline for instruction in any local vocational agriculture department. Strictly speaking, this guide is intended to serve as a basis for course construction and instructional planning. This supports the concept that a course outline and instructional plan in vocational agriculture for a local community should be based on local conditions and needs.

Special recognition is given to Mr. Jay McCracken and the Colorado Vocational Agriculture Industrial Advisory Committee; Drs. Ramsey Groves and Windol Wyatt; and Brent Young for their assistance and support of this project.
